

Breaking News' Best Paper Award

For the first time, the NWG will award three prizes (500, 300, 200 €) for student participants at the Göttingen 2019 meeting.

The prizes will be given to three very young scientists who present the best talks in the Breaking News Symposia. A jury will pick the awardees, and the awards will be announced and bestowed during the conference at the beginning of the last plenary lecture of the day.

Criteria for selection are the novelty of the findings which are presented and their potential impact on future research and the quality of the presentation, both the speech and the slides.

Application for the award is not required, all those who apply online during the registration and abstract submission for an oral presentation, and who will be selected for one of the two Breaking News Sessions, will be shortlisted.

A dedicated motto of the NWG, “We support young academics”, will thus be realized.

Deadline: October 1, 2018 (the deadline for early registration and abstract submission)
